Not illustrated. 1916 Excerpt: .no man living ever saw in this country just the conditions existing today in the business world. We have annually, in the past, received hundreds of thousands of immigrants into this country to swell the ranks of labor. Since the war began, not only has this stream ceased, but some hundreds of thousands of able bodied men have left our shores to join the armies of Russia, Greece, Italy and other countries. On top of this labor shortage, has come a flood of war and domestic orders such as we never saw before at one time and every industry in the country is rushed. Manufacturers who are wise will figure on this condition, will plan ahead on account of this congestion and even then he will have trouble enough. But, any way, order in sufficient quantities to keep the wheels moving. Have you ever tried to set a middle sole dry in a welt shoe? The middle sole or top when dry will keep the edge in better shape. The outsole being wet or in temper will dry in due time for other operations, but when both are wet the middle sole naturally dries slowly and causes more or less trouble at bottom finishing. As a rule the top is of softer stock than the outsole proper and can be stitched dry fully as well as when wet. It must appear to every practical manufacturer, that every good turn or apparently kind action on his part...
